HELLO!

Something About the Telephone in Glendale and Vicinity—Remarkable Growth of the Service

Not "Hello Bill" but just "Hello," which is the extent of the intimacy between the patrons of the telephone and the young lady operators who occupy the position of arbiters of the far-flung waves of talk that unceasingly pass to and fro along the long thin lines of metal that now almost span the world, saving only the part that is covered by water. But hold—did we not read in the paper only the other day that just over the river in our neighborhood city of Hollywood a telephone patron of exceeding riches had married a telephone operator? Indeed the case was not unprecedented, it was a duplication of just what is liable to occur at any time, provided the young ladies ever get time to attend to other than the telephone business, which is not liable to occur during office hours of that we feel assured after visiting the Sunset Company office on Brand Boulevard, one day this week, and Manager Deal said it wasn't such a busy day either. It was during the forenoon and there were four operators on duty including the chief operator. The impression first received by the reporter was as to the improvement noticeable comparing the present with a few years ago in regard to the noise of the service. Then, when a call came in, a big tag with a number on it flopped down on the board which the operator faces, demanding immediate attention by its overpowering bulk and general impressiveness. Now, a little inconspicuous number appears on the board and at the same instant a miniature "lamp" in front of the operator becomes incandescent and continues to glow until the matter receives attention. When the proper switch is made the lamp becomes opaque and the operator is free to answer other calls. When the patron hangs up the receiver another point of light appears in another place, and then there is still another glow elsewhere when his corresponding also hangs up, giving the operator notice that the conversation is ended. The proper switch is then made, the lights go out and the incident is over as far as that particular call is concerned. Four cables carry in the office wires. The wires first pass through a "Protector" provided with fuses and arranged so that any current from a foreign source which might be an element of danger, will jump over the narrow space to another conductor which will carry it safely into the ground, the conducting wires into the office having only a carrying capacity sufficient for the purpose required to be served, any current in excess of that being shunted into the ground as stated. Telephones are now furnished with a direct electric current which is supplied from the central office and the new system does not require a separate battery at the terminal end of every wire outside the main office. The wires of the power company supply the telephone office with an alternating current which, however, cannot be used for the telephone business and it is therefore necessary to use a small dynamo which converts the alternating into a direct current, which charges a large storage battery that is placed on one side of the rear room here in use. In this rear room also is the table of the wire chief with its arrangement of switches and other conveniences for enabling him (or her) to cut in on any wire and test it for trouble. The wire chief, however, spends the most of the time at the switchboard supervising the work of the operators, ready at any time to straighten out any tangle that may turn up.

The remarkable growth of Glendale and vicinity during the past three years is clearly shown by the growth of the telephone service here during that period. Three years ago the Sunset company had forty subscribers—today it has 695 and is fifty behind in new phones to be put in. This does not indicate only the increase of population but the quality of the people and perhaps one or two other things. There is Alhambra, for instance, older and more populous than Glendale, with only about half as many subscribers to "the telephone," while Hollywood is only about a hundred ahead of us. During this period the net gain in subscribers has been about twenty per cent a month. Further than this the Glendale office has the best record for growth of any office on the Pacific coast and ranks second best for collections. Considering that the Pacific coast is rather considerable, geographically and otherwise, this is a pretty big claim, but the published records make it good.

Some idea of how the telephone operators put in their time may be gathered from a few facts here presented. The office never closes and six operators are required to give this continuous service, eight hours constituting a day's work. The busiest time is from 6:30 to 8:00 p. m., the favorite "visiting" time, probably, for the people who have put off until the close of the ordinary day's duty the matter of whispering a few words of advice, gossip, airy persiflage and possibly business, over the wire. From 6:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. there are from 600 to 900 calls per hour, making at the latter figure an average of 300 calls per hour for one operator, or five calls per minute. This fact explains why the telephone operator has to cut off pretty short usually and how it happens that when she repeats a four-figure call, the only thing the subscriber hears is "3-4-zip." Instead of "3-4-5-6," or whatever number you asked for. It also explains a lot of other things which the average user of the telephone does not understand. Here is the record for an average day recently: total number of Glendale calls in 24 hours, 8116; Los Angeles calls (one-way only), 2490.

The force of this office consists of a manager, cashier, collector, six operators and two linemen. The pay roll foots up about $600 per month. The Sunset company has recently moved into its present offices on Brand Boulevard, which are spacious and well-equipped with a view to good service and not forgetting the comfort and convenience of employees. This article does not pretend to cover the entire telephone business of Glendale and vicinity, as the Home company also has a large list of subscribers here and has moved into more commodious quarters and made many improvements in its service recently, in regard to which we shall speak at another time.

ELKS HAVE A GOOD TIME AT CASA VERDUGO.

The Elks captured Casa Verdugo last Wednesday evening and high jinks was the order of the night. The entertainment was an imitation of the celebrated dinners of the famous Gridiron Club and the affair will go down in local history as the greatest thing that ever happened at this famous resort. There was a Spanish flavor about the entertainment that made it unique as even the "Gridironers" know nothing of chili-con-carne, enchiladas, tamales and the other hot stuff served at the Casa. One of the features of the evening was the "Spineless Cactus," a special edition of a sheet prepared for the occasion. A glance at its market reports indicates that it was a fearful and wonderful sheet.

"Little activity was manifested on the local market. Beer is lower, because everybody has been trying to put it down. Arnica is stronger. Spineless Cactus Preferred sold off during the early hours, but fell off at the close on a rumor that City Editor Parton will leave the paper to go to the War Cry. Casa Verdugo debentures went up rapidly on the rumor that the newspaper men's dinner will be settled for by somebody. Butter was strong."

THE BOARD OF TRADE FAIR

A Success Financially and Otherwise—Prize Winners—Honorable Mention, etc.

The fair given at the Glendale Skating Rink by the Board of Trade for the Pavilion Fund was a marked success. Friday evening at five o'clock all was in readiness to welcome everyone. The place presented a beautiful appearance with its booths artistically decorated in colored papers, flowers and ribbons.

Upon entering one was instantly smitten with a keen desire to "ask questions" just for the sake of patronizing the information bureau, resplendent in purple and white and the Elks' head. This booth was in charge of Mrs. Ella Witham, Mrs. D. W. Hunt and Mrs. Edgar Leavitt. Next came the candy booth beautifully lilted in yellow and white crepe paper with marguerites. Mrs. Frank, Miss Frank, Mrs. R. E. Chase, Mrs. Hinckley had charge of the candy booth. The art and fancy work booth, in charge of Mrs. Eugene Pitcher, Mrs. Hammersley, Mrs. Stockbridge and Mrs. Coker was in pink and white and the fine decorations made a fitting background for the beautiful articles in this always artistic department. The dry goods and millinery, also in pink and white, in charge of Mrs. Mae Mitchell, Mrs. C. C. Campbell and Mrs. Anna McIntyre, was an interesting place displaying the finest of its kind. The grocery booth, both practical and beautiful, was trimmed in red and white and in charge of Mrs. E. D. Goode.

Needless to say the ice cream and lemonade booth kept Mrs. Scott Johnson very busy and whether one looked to right or left there was some attractive feature to lure the willing one in. Sylvia Carmen, the gypsy fortune teller, had a line of anxious ones waiting with fear and trembling her mystic words that should reveal the future. The little folks would be sure Mr. Walter Penn's fishpond was the very finest thing there. The restaurant giving meals during the entire fair time was well patronized, people coming from out of town found it especially welcome. This department was under the direction of Mrs. Sinclair, Miss Fielding, Mrs. Dan Campbell and Mrs. Henry Ward.

The closing evening was the Auction Monday, Mr. E. U. Emery acting as auctioneer. The cake contributed by the Glendale bakery was awarded to the lady getting the most votes, and Mrs. Hinckley was the happy recipient. The dress pattern was won by Mrs. C. O. Pulliam. A cake containing a postage stamp which was to be given to the lucky guesser at ten cents per, was bought by Mrs. Dan Campbell as no one guessed what it contained besides the usual ingredients. The gold watch was won by a child who had one chance invested. Mrs. Hammersley was awarded the ring. The gross receipts were about $300. Among those who gave most liberally of their time in working up the project may be mentioned particularly Mrs. Pitcher and Miss Frank, who secured the most of the donations.

Friday evening there was a program consisting of musical numbers; the instrumental part contributed by Miss Emma S. A. Williams at the piano and Miss Eleanor Clemons, violinist. A clever monologue artist and a tenor singer from Los Angeles contributed well received numbers. The orchestra furnished music Saturday evening.

An attempt to mention all who assisted in making the fair a success would at best be incomplete, the people very generally and generously gave it their support. The committee acknowledge their indebtedness to the following contributors of goods: Messrs. Buck, Shaver, Logan, Petersen, groceries; Mr. English of the Glendale Bakery, the Tropico Bakery, the Hoffman Ice Cream Parlors, Miss Mae Mitchell, Mr. Anderson of the Book Store, Messrs. Carney, McGee, Middleworth, Barager, Watson, Zerr, the Glendale Meat Market, Jones Meat Market, Hinckley's Hardware, Allen, hardware; J. M. Freeman, Messrs. Deal, Comstock, Penn, Miradero Pharmacy, Ganahl Lumber Co., Valley Lumber Co., Messrs. Lukens, Smalley, Guernsey, Walton. While those contributing money were Mr. C. O. Pulliam, MacMullins Dairy, Overton Realty Co., Parker and Sternberg, Mr. Chandler, T. W. Watson, Mungers Laundry and Valley Lumber Co. The following Los Angeles firms contributed liberally: Hub Clothing Co., Lowman & Co., Ville de Paris, Crombie & Co., Desmond, Parmalee Co., Dr. Heron, Lapp Gifford, Bullocks, Burns Shoe Store, Mullen & Bluet, Cudahy Packing Co., Newmark Bros., Haas Baruch, M. A. Newmark Co., Zellerbach Co., Blake Moffitt Towne, Parmalee Dohrmann, Swift & Co., H. Jevne.

If you want a flour made near home you will find no better flour than the Pasadena Milling Co.'s "Best." It is made of the choicest California and eastern wheats scientifically blended. For sale by the leading grocers of Glendale.

HOLLYWOOD GROWTH.

That Hollywood is growing is an old story. Everyone has read the totals of building permits and knows the frequency of new residences. How many know that within the parish of home circulation of the Citizen, within the territory covered by these news columns, among people whose interests are common with ours, there are twenty-one grocers? In the same territory there are five drug stores and ten meat markets. There are six establishments for tailoring, dyeing and cleaning, and five or six laundries, not counting more than a dozen local agencies for outside establishments. There are candy and pop stands in proportion, and over twenty offices still open for real estate business and fourteen church organizations holding regular services. There are eight grammar schools, some of them already so large as to be unwieldy. These are the things which go to show the solid growth of this section.—Citizen.

The rates charged consumers for water by the Union Water Co. at Hollywood, have been lowered by the board of supervisors acting under the state law which governs rates that water companies are permitted to charge. The maximum rate now will be $1.50 for 6000 gallons instead of $1.60, as heretofore.

Charges for meters are to be from $8.00 to $20.00 for one-half to one inch meters, and $10 to $16 for connections.

AT THE COUNTRY CLUB.

At the club house last Saturday evening the ladies of the Maids and Matrons Club entertained their friends by a musical program of unusual attractiveness followed by a dance. The vocal soloists were Misses Kle Julie Christin, and Grace M. James, who were heartily encored. The piano playing of Miss Kathryn Potter and Miss Emma S. A. Williams was enthusiastically received as was the violin solo by Miss Eleanor Clemons. The dance was announced as a "German," but as the guests generally were unacquainted with its intricacies the old reliable two-step served to while away the hours. Refreshments were served in the porches.

Next Monday the Maids and Matrons will be entertained at the club house by Mrs. R. A. Petersen, assisted by Mesdames Rice, Belford and Gibson. There will be music and other entertainment; probably one or two original features. Ladies are requested to bring needle and thimble.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

Mr. James H. Woods, recently of Hollywood, has commenced the construction of a bungalow on Milford street, which will cost about $2500. It will be an up-to-date structure of eight rooms. C. B. Franklin, contractor.

Mr. Jumper, corner of Vine and Pacific streets, in the Vineyard tract, is building a six-room cottage.

Mr. Odell, at Dryden and Louise streets, has the foundations of four houses laid and two more are to follow at once. They will be 5 and 6 room cottages, costing about $1500 each with modern accessories and conveniences.

The Glendale Market will serve you with the best meats at the lowest prices.

CALIFORNIA PROMOTION COMMITTEE BULLETIN.

Advance statements regarding the fruit crop have been fully borne out and reports received by the California Promotion committee from all sources indicate that this will be a very heavy fruit year.

There is strong demand for labor in all agricultural districts, with good wages and promise of permanent employment. Demand for women and girls in the canning and drying establishments over the state is especially urgent.

Colonization effort is receiving great impetus, and many desirable settlers are coming to all parts of the state.

Increased inquiry regarding California is noted throughout the East and in Europe, and a number of colonies are being formed to locate in the state. Great activity is shown in railroad extension work in several parts of the state, and a number of new electrical lines are being projected.

During the month much interest has been displayed in California by investors of Holland and other European financial centers.

California is already feeling the impulse of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, and many tourists are visiting the state, which is coming to be more and more recognized as an all year resort. Tourist travel for the coming year bids fair to break all previous records.

BURBANK'S ELECTRIC ROAD.

There is to be a meeting held in the Masonic hall this afternoon by parties interested in the proposed electric railroad along the foothills from Casa Verdugo to Burbank, at which it will probably be decided whether the matter will be dropped entirely or pushed to an immediate issue. It seems that there has been subscribed about $29,000 by property owners along the proposed route, so that the required bonus of $30,000 is practically secured, but the rights of way have not in several instances been obtained, parties over whose land it passes having in some cases refused to give the right of way and in others demand exorbitant prices for the privilege. In our next issue we hope to announce something positive in regard to the matter.

FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The ladies of the W. F. M. S. of the Methodist church held the regular meeting in the church which was prettily decorated for the occasion. The afternoon was spent in listening to an address by Miss Belle Anderson, assistant corresponding secretary of the Pacific branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society. Her talk was intensely interesting and covered a wide field, especially the work along the Pacific coast.

Mrs. Emma Burket and son, Dana, sang a duet, "What is the Song," which was greatly enjoyed.

Refreshments concluded the program.

AN ACQUAINTANCE PARTY.

Wednesday evening a party was given at the Methodist parsonage on Third street to the members of the church for the purpose of becoming better acquainted with each other. Japanese lanterns made the lawn an attractive place for the young people, while within the house was gay with flowers. In the reception hall a receiving committee of Rev. and Mrs. Humphrey, Mrs. Hendershott and Mrs. Johnston gave all a royal welcome.

An interesting program of readings and music made the time pass quickly, ending with the unique refreshments, cornucopias. About a hundred were present.

FAREWELL PARTY.

On Friday evening Dana Burket gave a farewell party at his home on Fifth street in honor of Charles Brown, who left Monday for San Francisco. The young people being unusually musical played and sang school songs and college songs until there was nothing left to sing but the octave when they went to the kitchen and made candy, afterwards games and refreshments completed a most enjoyable time.

Social and Personal

Ray Goode is spending a few days this week in Banning.

Miss William Martin left last week to visit her mother and sister of Harper.

Professor and Mrs. Moyses and son, Hollis, are spending their vacation at Mt. Wilson.

Mrs. Robert Morris left Thursday for a two months' visit to her old home in Chicago.

Dr. F. L. Osenburg, dentist, Watson Block, Fourth and Glendale avenue. Phone Sunset 293.

Mrs. Albert W. Dow and daughter, Dorothy, left Wednesday for a two weeks' visit with friends at Banning.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fish and sister, Miss Hazel Wheatley have moved into the Burket-Goss bungalow on Fifth street.

Rev. S. Lawrence Ward and family are off on an outing in Ventura county and will probably remain for a fortnight at least.

Mr. C. R. Cass, president of Los Angeles Map and Address Co., spent Sunday with Mrs. Brown and son, Charles of Jackson street.

Mr. Reginald Whitaker, of Ninth street, is enjoying a ten days' vacation from his labors in the city engineer's office, Los Angeles.

Mr. John A. Sanborn, now a resident of Covina, visited his brother, J. N. Sanborn, Monday last. Mr. Sanborn has an orange grove at Covina and is pleased with that section.

Charles A. Brown left Monday for San Francisco to visit relatives and to make arrangements for entering Berkeley in the fall. His mother expects to leave later in the month.

Mrs. Busby of Detroit, Mich., is visiting Glendale, being the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell of East Second street. She will probably remain here for a month and is properly pleased with our climate and our city.

Mr. E. B. Wardner has returned to Glendale after an absence of some months. While enroute eastward some weeks ago he encountered an old railroad friend at El Paso and with him journeyed down into Mexico and back to the middle west.

Miss Dorothy Redfield of Santa Barbara, is being entertained by Mrs. Marion Comstock of Everett street. Miss Redfield is a sophomore at Mills college, at which institution her grandmother was professor of elocution forty-five years ago.

Mr. O. A. Knold and daughter arrived from North Dakota last Tuesday and are stopping with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell. Mr. Knold will be remembered as having spent several months in Glendale about a year ago. This time he will probably remain with us permanently. On his way here Mr. Knold visited the Seattle exposition which he reports as being a great success in every way.

Mrs. E. T. Byram and daughter, Miss Ruth Byram, of 218 Glendale avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. William D. Byram and Miss Regina Quessel of Los Angeles, expect to leave on the twenty-second of this month on the steamship Governor for Seattle. After a few days of sight-seeing they take the eleven days' trip through southeastern Alaska on the Cottage Bay. Before their return Mrs. Byram of Glendale and daughter will visit friends in Eastern Oregon.

Mr. J. Q. Seng has returned from a six weeks' vacation which he spent on the desert principally between Mojave and Bishop along the route of the Owens river aqueduct. He was accompanied by his son, Orr Seng. Mr. Seng reports that all the way between Mojave and Bishop, a distance of something like two hundred miles, is a succession of camps and straggling campers-out, most of them employed on the aqueduct. At one place forty miles out of Mojave a mushroom town has grown up containing probably a thousand people living in tents and shacks. He thinks that a great big hole is being rapidly made in the $23,000,000 aqueduct fund, but there is a good deal to show for it, in the shape of tunnels principally. The Southern Pacific is rapidly constructing a railroad over the route, having built ninety miles beyond Mojave over which track trains run daily.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS BY ODD FELLOWS.

Next Monday evening there will be an installation of officers at the Odd Fellows lodge in their hall here. Installation ceremonies will be performed by the officers of a visiting lodge and preparations are being made for a pleasant social time afterwards, when there will be a supper and a "smoker." All Odd Fellows are invited.

"TAKES THE CAKE."

The three-story cake made by Mr. English of the Glendale Bakery for the Fair last week, was a triumph of the baker's art in appearance and those who sampled it say that it was fully as good as it looked. It was one of the chief objects of interest at the fair, as almost it centered a very lively voting contest for the "Most popular lady." The race was close between Mrs. Hinckley and Mrs. Pitcher, but the former came off winner.

John D. Rockefeller is going to make butter out of petroleum. No kerosene in our's please!

Deposits in the banks of Los Angeles amount to $95,932,424, an increase of $7,381,997 within the six months ending June 30th. Deposits in Pasadena amount to $9,190,772.

Joaquin Miller is talking of starting a colony of poets up about Oakland where the poets grow. Joaquin will never get his project beyond the starting stage. He is himself an example of a poet well started but stopped.

The B. P. O. E. Welome Souvenir gives a very complimentary notice to Glendale, accompanied by a page of views of our principal buildings. The position accorded it in the book, is a good one, being between the spaces given to Los Angeles and Pasadena.

The Woman's Club of Whittier has started in on a "Trade at Home" campaign. For three months the members propose to exert themselves in an effort to build up the business interests of their town. Coupons have been issued to members who are to report purchases and on the final day of the campaign; notes will be compared and results announced.

A GOOD PRECEDENT.

In the election of Mr. Sammis to the position of Exalted Ruler of their fraternity the society of the Elks seems to have established an excellent precedent which should apply in all such bodies and in the political world. Mr. Sammis has a record as an indefatigable and efficient worker, who has climbed up from the bottom and earned all that he has achieved.

California's new banking law went into effect July 1st. The bank commissioners who have had control of the state banking system for many years, have been done away with. Alden Anderson of Sacramento, former lieutenant governor, is superintendent under the new system, at a salary of $10,000 a year.

Mr. Anderson is an able man with a good record and may be expected to "make good" in his new office.

The new law was practically prepared by a committee of bankers and every safeguard is thrown about the interests of depositors. It is thought that fraudulent banking concerns, such as Los Angeles has had its due proportion of in times past, will not hereafter be able to do business in the state.

THE B. P. O. E.

Glendale has not been favored with a sight of many of the visiting Elks, but in common with the rest of Southern California we will partake in the benefits derived from their visit to Los Angeles, where between 50,000 and 75,000 of the members of that organization and their friends are being entertained this week.

Every one may not know that the title of this somewhat mysterious organization is the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks. One of its rules is to the effect that there shall be but one lodge of the order in any one place; a rule which prevents the order from becoming so widely known as it might otherwise be, but assures large and flourishing lodges. Its benevolences are systematically bestowed and it is one of the fundamental principles of the organization that there shall be no advertising of its good works, in accordance with the Scriptural injunction regarding alms-giving.

Los Angeles can well afford to treat these visitors with lavish hospitality. They are a class of people who are accustomed to spend their money freely and they will more than pay their way. The indirect benefits to this section that will result from their visit, will, no doubt, be of great value. As a medium for the advertising of our summer climate alone, these visitors must necessarily spread the fame of it far and wide. Providence, working through the weather department has been very kind to this section during the past week and the Elks may be depended upon to tell of it.

THE INCOME TAX.

It seems to be settled that a proposition for an amendment to the constitution authorizing the imposition of an income tax, will be submitted to the states of the union for adoption. At present under the ruling of the supreme court the federal government can only levy and collect an income tax by apportioning such a tax among the different states. This is a cumbersome and unsatisfactory process which will be rendered unnecessary should the states adopt the proposed amendment. Amending the constitution of the United States is a rather serious matter, however, as it requires a favorable vote on the part of the legislatures of three-fourths of the state. It is evident therefore that the income tax will not be engrafted into law for a good while yet. Republicans in times past, have not been favorable to the income tax idea and there is therefore some force given by this fact to the charge of the Democrats that the Republicans are stealing their thunder. There has been no doubt a considerable change of opinion in regard to the income tax, in the minds of the people of the United States since the Democratic party endeavored to engraft the principle into our laws. The continuing increase of great fortunes during the past twenty years is a fact that has been thrust upon the attention of the people so persistently and emphatically that there is not the least feeling toward great accumulations of wealth which once existed. The experience of England, extending over many years, in levying an income tax, is an example which does not discourage the trying of the experiment by the United States. There is, certainly, justice in the idea that citizens who are enabled by the laws of their country to accumulate great wealth, should be willing to contribute to the treasury of their government a small proportion of the riches they possess.

A PROBLEM IN SPAIN.

The Spanish government in its time has faced many serious problems, some of which have been solved in a statesmanlike manner and others otherwise. But not for a long time have the rulers of Spain faced such a serious question as now confronts them, and that is how to make the national pastime less dangerous! A brilliant idea has, however, been evolved as the solution of the problem—a school in which the art of bull fighting is to be taught, will be established by the government. There are scoffers, however, who pretend to believe that this will not answer the purpose, and they point to the fact that among the heroes of the arena who have recently been injured by inconsiderate bulls into whose anatomy they were sticking bandoleers and things, were some of the most skillful matadores. In view of this sad condition of affairs, we feel impelled in the interest of humanity to offer some suggestions of more or less value to King Alfonso and his cabinet who are sitting up nights wrestling with the problem, "How shall bull fights be made harmless except to the bulls?" It seems to our simple mind that the problem is really an easy one and the only difficulty in the way of its settlement is to decide which one of many devices to adopt. It will be found we think upon close investigation that the injuries to the beautifully spangled matadores, troubadours or whatever they are, result from their coming into close proximity to the bull. Now, obviously, this is easily remedied. The men might fight the animals from the safe side of a good stone wall. A hole in the wall would permit of as close intimacy as a proper regard for health would dictate. The matadore or battledore as the case may be, could reach through the hole far enough to permit of his wriggling a red flag in the atmosphere on the other side, which the bull observing, would no doubt charge at in a proper manner and be much chagrined at finding that it had disappeared through the hole. The chagrined countenance of the animal when he found out what he was up against, would furnish proper amusement for the cultured cauliflowerers of Spanish aristocracy who get their amusement in that way. Then when this had palled upon the appetites of the observing chivalry, a long handled pole with a skewer on the end of it might be shoved through the hole in the wall and into the bull's head. This might be done just as often as the animal would submit to it without any unbecoming remarks. Then if he should cease to show any interest in worldly affairs, the matador or pompador might show his spangled beauty to the admiring throng and receive the plaudits and pesos of the crowd and get ready to punch other holes through the hole in the wall again.

Another excellent plan which would obviate the use of masonry would be to have the horns, hoofs and spiked tails of the animals carefully upholstered. For this purpose air cushions could be devised which would make the protruding portions of the animal quite innocuous. Of course there is an element of danger to be found in the possibility of its occurring to the bull to sit down upon the matadore, barndoor or whatever it is, and so permanently embarrass him. If these devices fail there would still remain the expedient of establishing colleges for the education of the bulls which would no doubt be taught by persistent endeavor to treat their human antagonists with more tender consideration such as should be shown to a superior race. We have no doubt but that the wild bulls with the best blood of Andalusia in their veins, could be taught in the course of time that it is altogether bad form to imbue their horns with the blue blood of Aragon and Castile. (Where the soap comes from). Any of these experiments are worth trying, for as it appears now the unreasonable bulls display remarkable selfishness in objecting to having their hides used for pincushions while still on their original frames, notwithstanding that the high object of it all is to make a Spanish holiday!

RUSTICATING IN THE YOSEMITE.

(Written for the News)
Uncle Sam has protections and prohibitions nicely in operation here. Not a dog, not even the loved poodles, is allowed in the valley. The gunny man is in quietude as well as the dog. The result is birds, squirrels, skunks, everything is allowed to live. As I write a dainty humming bird is sipping nectar from my bouquet of wild flowers and hovers within two feet of my face. The lovely gray squirrels of the forest comes up near our table, seeking fruit seeds, or a welcome walnut. The chipmunk, with a streak of white hair about its neck, is so tame that it will eat from your hand; the robin, with its happy hop and red breast, comes near as if to extend thanks for the suppressions of the dog and the gunny man. Even the bear will peacefully amble up to the backdoor of the kitchens and nose about for table scraps. He neither hurts nor is hurtful. Protection works admirably here. No saloons, no dives, hence a minimum of vices and crimes. Prohibition has not ruined the valley. Two troops of United States soldiers do the lazy act much of the time because all the people behave.

Everybody is easy, happy, pleasant. There is no clothes caste. Everything goes, khakis, calico, silk, and mixed. Each one comes to court nature in her peaceful, harmless attitudes, so dress for show rarely ever gets much claim. Boots and leggings and sombreros and ordinaries and commons, all go. Nobody insists on breaking into your own notions and fixed principles on these necessary conditions, so you can go just as any other one goes, your own way. It is a freedom valuable and appreciated.

The science club camped here July 4, and the 5th they started up the trails. It is worth while to see 150 men and women lying on mats, wrapped in blankets under great pines, cedars and oaks by the great Merced river, getting ready to sleep for mountain climbing. Every one walks, and the burro and mule do the baggage act. They start out for a 150-mile mountain tramp. Up over rocks, through forests, by snowdrifts, across streams, in the canyons, by massive boulders they wend their way as students of nature. It is education hard-earned, but sure to stick.

Ralph Waldo Emerson once wrote about Yosemite valley: "It is the only place that comes up to the brag." And the reason is that brag runs out of paint and varnish words when he wrote up this valley. There were not enough adjectives in that class to get above Providence's perpendicula. For once brag could not go beyond the truth. I will not try to describe these wonders, for in trying I find words as lean as Pharaoh's seven scrawny kine. What's the use? Providence has put so many perpendicula here and monumented them with waterfalls, from Ribbon to Bridal Veil, that words can neither mount the heights nor descend the depths of the falls. I just won't try.

Nerve tonics? Never any better than here. One can walk and walk as he never before walked, and then want to walk some more. And eat? Why, victuals never tasted better. Ozone must be in flesh, vegetables and fruits, or the pure air and pure water may ozonize the blood to greater running in and running out for heart actions. Yes, nerves are honored here, very highly. Walked in on three sides, feeling that these huge masses may fall on you, the awe, the sublimity, the quietude, the flora, the waters—all combine to help nerves.

Camp life? Well, what else would you want in a perfect climate. Among perfect environments cook outdoors, eat outdoors, lounge outdoors. Just in the tent to dress and sleep. One is right up to nature. His companions are pines, cedars, oaks, poplars, alders, birds, squirrels, and bears, if they choose to come. The latter have not shown up yet. We are too new, too scary, perhaps.

Yosemite, once Yo-Semite, but ruined by the printer who put in a lower case "s," comes from the Indian word, Po-hum-tee, or Yo-ham-tay, or Yo-hum-tay meaning "a large, or fully grown grizzly bear." The tribe which first lived here were known as the Ahwah-nee-chees. All gone! White man rooted them out. First white people entered the valley May 5, 1851. It startled them! Things looked awfully heaped up. Walls and peaks and domes 3300 to 5000 feet above the floor of the valley which itself is 4000 feet above sea level. The Indian was pointed outward and he went. If you want freshness, vigor, peace instead of pain, quietude rather than nerve-racking noise, come to Yosemite valley a month or more, and go out built all new.

Astronomical Notes.
(For the News.)

Halley's Comet.

At the annual visitation of Greenwich observatory which took place June 5th, Sir W. H. M. Christie, the astronomer royal, reported that a careful photographic search, was made last winter for Halley's Comet, a few suspicious objects were noted, but nothing that could be certainly identified. Owing to the region being now too near the sun, the search is abandoned until the autumn, when it is hoped that it will be quickly found. Calculation indicates the middle of April, 1910, as the most probable time of perihelion passage. On this assumption it will be a tolerably bright telescopic object in Pisces next January. In April it will be a bright morning star, toward the end of May it will pass within about 12,000,000 miles of the earth, but, owing to its declination being south of the sun, it will not be very well placed for northern observers.

The International Solar Union.

Dr. Geo. E. Hale, director of the Mt. Wilson observatory, who has just returned from Europe, makes the important announcement that the bi-annual convention of the International Solar Union has been arranged to take place at Pasadena in August, 1910. The last convention was held at Paris in 1908. As the union comprises the most distinguished representatives of astronomical science, the convention will attract a large number of men of eminent attainments. The convention is expected to last about ten days, and some of its meetings will doubtless be held at the observatory on Mt. Wilson. It is stated that the choice of Pasadena as a meeting place was made because so many astronomers desired to see our local observatory and its unequalled equipment, nevertheless we are quite justified in recognizing the influence which has been exerted, with easy success, by the eminent director of the observatory, Dr. Geo. E. Hale, and we may gauge his eminence from the fact that he has been able to attract so distinguished a gathering in this far western country.

Obituary.

With much regret will be noted the death of Professor Simon Newcomb, who so long has held a conspicuous place in scientific circles. He died at his residence in Washington, D. C., on the 11th inst., at the good age of 74.

His astronomical writings comprise more than 200 papers and have long been regarded as possessing high authority and value.

In addition to these Professor Newcomb wrote on many other questions, such as political economy, the labor questions of the day, and an important contribution to the physiology of sex, in all of which he has shown a lucidity and versatility which indicates a master mind.

One of his choicest recreations was the effort to popularize science and especially his major study, astronomy, and three books especially may be recommended as affording the utmost intellectual pleasure to the every-day reader who has a soul above the sordid things of earth and the leisure for reading.

"Side Lights on Astronomy," "Astronomy for Everybody," and "Reminiscences of an Astronomer." The last-mentioned book is perhaps more pleasing than the other two, as in it Professor Newcomb has recounted in a most delightfully personal manner his experiences in many a celebrated expedition to observe solar eclipses, transits, or other astronomical phenomena, demanding long journeys to sometimes uninhabited islands, and also while engaged on other work for the government.

Professor Newcomb was a member of the Institute of France, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and a Fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society of Great Britain. He held many important positions, including that of professor of mathematics in Johns Hopkins university, and received many honorary decorations throughout the world. He first entered the U. S. navy in 1861, as mathematical professor and was retired with the rank of rear admiral in 1897.

Truly he was a great man, and his many works are destined to an enduring fame. X-RAY.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

July 18, 1909.

(Copyright, 1909, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.)
Paul's Second Missionary Journey—Thessalonica and Berea. Acts xvii: 1-15.

Golden Text—Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I may not sin against thee. Ps. cxli:11.

Verses 1-2—Is church going a good habit, and what do they lose who have not formed it?

How many times a day should a person attend church?

What is the value of a good habit, and how are good habits formed?

Verses 3-4—Did Paul mean to say that it was necessary for the Jews to have put Jesus to death, and if not what did he mean? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(The position taken by the present writer is, that the Jews ought to have accepted Jesus, and, that their putting him to death is the colossal crime of history, and the calamity of calamities that has befallen the Jews. That there are two distinct lines of contingent prophecy in the Old Testament, either one of which being fulfilled, would cancel the other; and that the prophecies concerning the perpetuation of the Jewish nation and the throne of David with unparalleled splendor, were cancelled by the fulfillment of those concerning the rejection of Christ. God sent Jesus in good faith, and they voluntarily rejected him, when God's first and best plan was that they should accept him. God then proceeded to do through the death of Christ, that which would have been done more speedily by his life.)

Is it necessary for us to adopt all Paul's opinions, in order to be well-pleasing to God?

Were all Paul's opinions correct concerning the time of the second coming of Christ?

In what sense was it true, "that Christ must needs have suffered?" (See Luke xxiv:26, Jer. xxiii:5-6, Mich. v:2. Matt. 11:4-6.)

In what way do the Old Testament Scriptures bear testimony that Jesus is the Christ?

Verses 4-5—How do you account for it that the same facts and reasoning which converts some only serves to harden others?

How is it that women are generally in the majority in Christ's converts?

Why were the Jews moved with jealousy?

Can a jealous man, at the time, either be a true man or a correct reasoner?

How do you characterize a person who is jealous of another in doing good works?

Have we any modern example of the way these people acted?

Verses 6-10—Is the world, to-day, upside down, or right side up?

Is the world getting better or worse?

Verses 7-8—When people oppose the work of God do they generally confine themselves to the truth in their objections, or do they ever confine themselves to the truth?

Do objectors to the truth knowingly falsify or do they do it in blind ignorance, or through prejudice?

Verses 10-12—Is there ever any virtue in exposing ourselves to danger, when it is not necessary in the interests of the truth?

What was the difference between the religious people of Thessalonica and those of Berea?

Is a truth seeker sure to find it?

Is it ever right to suppress the truth in the interests of the Kingdom of God?

Verses 13-15—What is it which prompts men to work so hard, and persistently in opposing what they know to be the truth?

The following residents of the valley composed a party which went by autos to Santa Monica to see the big automobile races which were held at that place last Saturday morning and afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. C. G. While away they will attend the fair and take in many other points of interest. It is possible that they will remain permanently in the north if they can find a place that suits them.

HANDSOME PEDESTAL.

A happy surprise awaited the officers and members of N. P. Banks Woman's Relief Corps at the close of the meeting Friday afternoon. A committee composed of Mrs. W. J. Hibbert, Mrs. Della Hagood, and Mrs. W. W. Dutton, with Miss Hickman as chairman, presented a handsome presiding officer's pedestal to the corps. Following the presentation of the pedestal, which was accepted by Mrs. Mae Burlingham, acting president, an interesting program was rendered. Another pleasant surprise awaited the corps when a number of the members of N. P. Banks were invited to come to the room. Having been invited to come to attend the W. R. C. surprise. Speeches were made by Rev. J. H. Henry, post chaplain, Comrades W. R. Pratt, R. R. Taylor, Nathan Burlingham, J. Bailey Hickman, David Bardwell, Thomas Gillette and C. C. Chandler. Mary Evans-Hough read the speech of Lincoln at Gettysburg. Hilda Engelhardt gave a piano solo also a whistling solo, and Marjorie Imler gave a patriotic reading, while music was furnished by Mrs. Zella Brown, Mrs. Charles L. Peckham and Mrs. David H. Imler. Mrs. Edward H. Weston, with Mrs. J. H. Henry, accompanied by an escort from N. P. Banks corps, led by four color bearers each carrying a silken flag. W. J. Hibbert, W. W. Dutton, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Erskine were escorted to the platform and given the salute, when each made a speech.

Mrs. D. H. Imler made the closing speech, and then announced that another surprise awaited the members of the Post and Corps, and at a signal the doors of the banquet hall opened and ere many had realized all had assembled around the festive board, which was laden with a most delectable menu. The latter surprise was in compliment to W. J. Hibbert, W. W. Dutton, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Erskine, who designed and made the handsome pedestal. Tall vases of Shasta daisies with small bowls of bright flag pansies, formed the table decorations, which together with the scores of hydrangea in the hall, received more than a passing mention. Later these beautiful decorations were sent to the sick, both here in Glendale and Burbank.

The handsome pedestal, which is three feet high by eight inches wide and sixteen inches deep, is made of slash grain Oregon pine. On the front panel is an eagle and flags carved from Sequoia, while the base of the pedestal is carved in sugar pine. The front panel is a representative combination. The eagle holding the national colors, which in turn support the emblem of the W. R. C., the Maltese cross.

TROPICO CHURCH NOTES.

Presbyterian.
By Rev. Henderson C. Shoemaker. At our communion service last Sunday morning eleven members were added to our church, viz., Messrs. Herbert and Allen and Miss Phoebe Adams, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Dunham, Mr. and Mrs. Moody, Mrs. Goff and Mrs. Shoemaker. The Sunday school will go to Eastlake park, Los Angeles, next Wednesday, July 21, for a day's picnic and outing. We hope that every member of the school will find it possible to attend.

Quite a number of people from our church attended the union meeting which was held at the Methodist church last Sunday evening. Next Sunday evening the third of the series of these meetings will be held at the Presbyterian church and Rev. J. H. Henry, pastor of the Methodist church, will deliver the discourse. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone in this locality to attend and help to make this meeting a grand success.

The service to be held next Sunday morning will be especially helpful. The text will be "Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow," Matt. 6:28.

The called meeting of the Ladies' Aid of this church, Wednesday afternoon, was postponed on account of the death of the father of Mrs. W. H. Bullis, who passed out of this life at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, from his home in Los Angeles.

Methodist.

The union service at our church last Sunday evening was well attended and was profitable and pleasing to all. The discourse given by Rev. Henderson C. Shoemaker was very forceful and instructive. Next Sunday evening the union meeting will be held at the Presbyterian church and the pastor of this church will preach.

The Ladies' Aid of this church held its final meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Pratt on Glendale avenue, Tuesday afternoon. A pleasing program was rendered, after which refreshments were served. The home was prettily decorated for the occasion with an abundance of seasonal flowers. Mrs. Pratt was very capably assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Miss Lola Pratt.

A social will be held in the parlors of this church next Friday evening, to which everyone in the valley is invited. No admission will be charged and during the evening a program will be rendered and refreshments will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynch Occupy Residence

Edward M. Lynch, city surveyor of Glendale, and wife, have taken possession of their pretty new home at the corner of Damasco court and Ninth street. The home is one of the most beautiful and modern erected at this place for a long time. It is an eight-room structure, with four bedrooms upstairs and a dining room, living room, kitchen and one bedroom downstairs. The second floor is finished in the native wood, while the main floor is finished in golden oak. The features in the living room are the double shelved mantel and a small bookcase. In the dining room is a buffet with a built-in china closet. The kitchen is very convenient, being fitted with cupboards and drawers on all sides. Throughout the house the floor is maple, which is oiled. The house's east front and has a fine large porch which is beautified by thick brick pillars.

TROPICO LIBRARY REPORT.

According to a report given by Miss Harriet Myers, librarian of the past year, has been one of growth to the library of this place. On every hand the library has prospered and the coming year promises to be one of equal advancement. During the year a large bookcase has been installed at the cost of $14. A desk and a stool at the cost of $6 and a clock has been purchased. At the present time the library owns 814 books. Forty-five were purchased the past year and 157 were gifts to the library. Over 5000 books were borrowed and 1200 magazines were taken from the library. There are over 400 card holders, 250 being constant readers. The Thursday Afternoon Club donated $10 toward the large bookcase recently purchased. The officials of the library feel very encouraged.

DEATH OF MRS. BULLIS' FATHER.

Mr. Marden of Los Angeles, father of Mrs. W. H. Bullis of this place, died at his home at 1:30 Wednesday morning. The death came as a great shock as Mr. Marden, who is 68 years of age, was only taken ill on Wednesday evening. After first being stricken the sufferer gradually grew worse and by Tuesday evening his condition was considered critical. Everything was done to save him, but despite every effort he passed away Wednesday morning. The body will be taken to Inglewood for interment and the body of his wife will be removed from the Compton cemetery and placed beside that of her husband.
